Letter of motivation for my candidacy on a position of IUSY Vice President

Dear Comrades,

Last July I have been elected General Secretary of JSE. One of the most important goals of this mandate is to make international politics a central subject in our organization. We live in a changing world, and a world that has softer borders. Globalization makes impossible to solve most of the problems in national terms. That is why; if governments have to take some decisions together, political organizations have to do the same.

It is in this context where the IUSY becomes more important than ever before. Coordination between members organization strengthens our national political activity, improves our performance and in consequence it helps us to change people's lives.

Because we think that international cooperation between socialists is important we took the step of postulating for hosting the 2018 YES Summer Camp. To create in Spain a good space for sharing experiences and for debating about climate changing, migrants, labor rights or a good tax system.

We did it because we want our militants to raise their awareness of the international politics and because we are convinced that we can contribute. JSE is a strong organization in the IUSY that had participated actively. That is why I am postulating, not just as Omar Anguita, but as General Secretary, because international politics is central for us.

With socialists regards,

Omar Anguita Pérez
General Secretary of JSE
