- 1 IUSY expresses its concern about the rising of far right movements which promote
- 2 fascist, racist and violent approach towards free society and democracy. Today our
- 3 basic human rights and values are being threatened by behavior that does not respect
- 4 diversity. In a lot of cities around the world, far-right extremists are marching the streets
- 5 shouting slogans which belong to the past and are spreading fear and hate. We need
- 6 more tolerance and respect, not racism and separation.
- 7 There is not one simple solution to this complicated issue. We need to prevent
- 8 members of society from developing extreme opinions as well as to defeat existing far-
- 9 right extremism.
- 10 To prevent future extremism, we need to start defeating social inequality. We need to
- 11 talk more about tolerance, respect and the understanding of diversity. This has to be
- 12 integrated into the different subjects that children learn at school. In this way, we make
- 13 future generations embrace diversity and respect each other. We need to secure people
- 14 jobs and cover their basic needs like healthcare and education. It is a fact that far-right
- 15 extremism grow when people feel like their

16 needs are being neglected, and therefore to battle this issue we need to fight for social 17 equality.

18 Another way to prevent extremism is to increase the public awareness regarding how to 19 handle hateful speech. Members of the public have to stand up against racism and hate 20 instead of ignoring it. Ignoring hate speech is to acknowledge its existence without 21 doing anything. Standing up against hate speech will give the authorities an opportunity 22 to handle and stop the development of the far-right.

23 As expressed at the beginning, we cannot ignore that there are groups in today's 24 society that already have developed extreme stances and attitudes. Different actors, 25 such as white power and skinhead groups, terrorist cells, political movements,
26 paramilitary groups and anti-Islam movements, engage in various forms of activities.
27 These activities range from hate crime, hate speech and incitement to vandalism, street
28 demonstrations and terrorism. We must not tolerate that these action takes place.

29 As one of the biggest youth organizations of the world we promise that we will fight the 30 uprising of far-right extremism and their actions in our countries!
