The current times that we live require that, as young people, we assume our vocation for change, bringing hope and commitment for the future. There is no doubt that IUSY is the platform from which we must articulate and work towards the welfare of our peoples, convinced that socialism is the way to do it.

The Americas are experiencing a period of great despair with the restoration of the conservative sectors, promoting exclusion, violence and the violation of human rights, and thus, promoting the regression of the advances that the socialist and progressive governments had managed to implement in the region in the past decades. In this context, Uruguay will be, in this period, the only country with IUSY member organizations that are in a left government in the region.

This of course means a great responsibility, and that is why we understand that a strengthened IUSY in the American region, cooperating, building collectively and full of solidarity, will allow us to reach out and be supportive of our comrades in the difficult times that are ahead us.

Globally, IUSY can be a strong network of action, commitment and solidarity to exist effectively "around the world to change it." To this end, the promotion and construction of strong communication and effective exchange mechanisms, training in topics of interest for action and effective participation of all organizations will generate a more open, plural and comprehensive work and a strengthened, active and present organization in all corners of the world where our solidarity is most needed.

Strengthening this tool internally for its effective action will continue to be our horizon. We believe that the best way to affirm this objective is to facilitate a transparent organic operation, based on the solidarity and responsibility of each organization. Moreover, the role that the Control Commission can and should be exercise to guarantee that these values are expressed is essential, facilitating the debate and collective exchange and acting on the basis of the resolutions and regulations that define it. In this way the action of the Control Commission will be itself, another example of how we act and want to do politics. Our objective will be to promote the exchange and then transcend the discourse and take it to the field of action and build a stronger organization.

The basis for all this will be a firm commitment to socialist and democratic values of dialogue, respect for diversity, trust, camaraderie and solidarity. Old practices, demagoguery cannot take place in the largest organization in the world, which is nothing more and nothing less, than democratic socialist.

With this desire, with the expectation of fulfilling these objectives in a framework of respect and plurality, I hope to have the necessary support to renew the vote of confidence and continue contributing to the Organization from the Control Commission during this next period.
